

Enterprise Management in the Leather Industry

How an effective ERP solution helps in business growth

September, 2022 Edition
Vol - 1

Effective management of resources is one of the most important aspects of any business; be it small or big. It is beyond saying that without proper resource management it is difficult to propel your organizational productivity & growth.

The leather industry is a very old, big & fast - moving manufacturing sector that produces a wide variety of products from leather garments to accessories. Managing your leather business requires the same level of expertise & care as creation of high end leather products.

An ERP software is your best friend while managing your business systematically. It helps in keeping a bird's eye view of the entire resources by bringing all the different business functions on a common platform.

One of the best provisions that an ERP provides is the customizations according to the needs of the businesses. For example: if a business is looking to organize its inventory, reports and inventory management functions can be customized for them. MIS Reports are one of the most utilitarian functions that give effective analysis for making appropriate management decisions.

Catch a glimpse of how we helped our leather manufacturing client with resource management with

BizERP

Springfield Leather Pvt. Ltd is a 20 years old leather manufacturing brand in Kolkata which produces high end leather bags & wallets at competitive prices.

We provided them with a highly customisable resource management platform designed specifically for the leather industry.

Benefits they got from BizERP:

- Centralized software with all the data in one place
- Industry specified customizable features
- Dynamic stage wise production mapping
- Effective Inventory management

Overseas Impex is a tannery based manufacturing & exporting unit of Industrial leather gloves company which is instrumental in maintaining the quality of leather right from its raw stage in Kolkata. They were facing resource management issues like an unorganized software system which was inconvenient for managing resources and business processes.

BizERP provided them with an industry specific customizable platform which is highly management friendly as well as easily accessible.

ERP with SAP B1

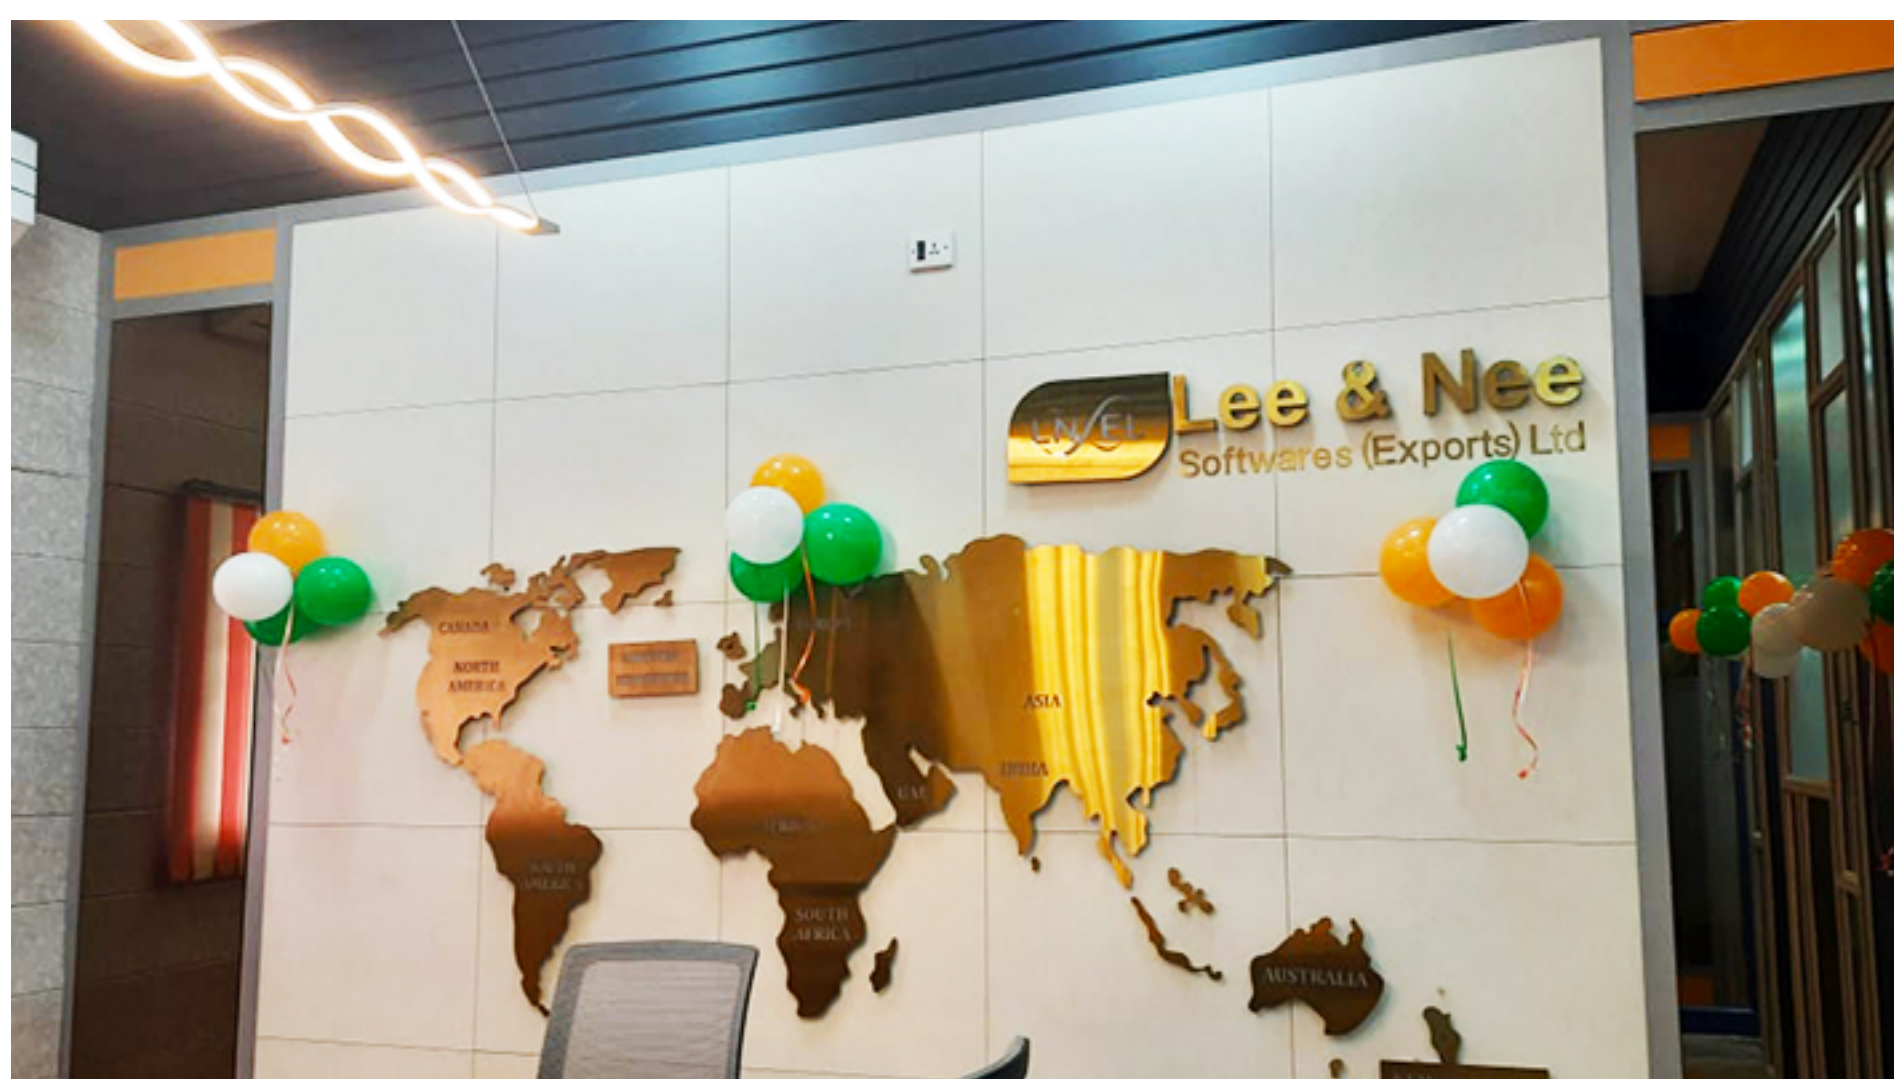

LNSEL recently got associated with another big name in the leather industry as SAP B1 partner for the sake of enterprise management. Chemgems India Private Limited, Kolkata is leather bags & accessories manufacturing brand. LNSEL has promised to provide them complete enterprise management with SAP B 1.

LNSEL has been associated with SAP for implementing automation solutions for businesses across industries.
